THE HASSLER, ROYALLY ROMAN

*Sitting as a crown atop the Spanish Steps,
The Hassler is a synonym for old world elegance.*

Ever since the Hassler opened its doors in 1893, it has held the coveted position as the most prestigious hotel in Rome. Set theatrically at the top of the Spanish Steps, it is within walking distance of the Villa Borghese park, Via Veneto, Via Condotti, and the city's most fashionable boutiques. The Hassler sits next to the magnificent 16th-century Trinità dei Monti church and the abundant greenery of the Villa Borghese gardens and commands one of the most exclusive views in the world over the churches, domes and rooftops of Rome.

Rome is a city where ancient and modern overlap seamlessly, and is home to a small number of world-famous hotels. Despite the fact that specific types of guests tend to choose one hotel over another because of their particular lifestyle, the Hassler is the only hotel that constantly appeals to the greatest cross-section of sophisticated travelers. Royalty, celebrities, diplomats, writers and business leaders alike all seem to find the perfect combination of sophisticated luxury, attentive service and unique location in one place, the Hassler.

The Hassler is owned by President and Managing Director Roberto E. Wirth, fifth generation of the famous Swiss hotelier family who became co-owners of the hotel with the Hasslers in the 1920s. As President and Managing Director and with more than 30 years of experience in the hotel business, Mr. Wirth, a passionate collector of art and fine wines, welcomes guests as he would in his own home, with consideration and care.

The Hassler is a five-star hotel, and member of The LeadingHotels of the World and Virtuoso.

A Unique Location in the Historical Heart of Rome

The whole city within sight of the Hotel Hassler

The Hassler Roma enjoys one of the most privileged positions in the very heart of Rome and sits to the right of the spectacular 16th-century Trinità dei Monti church and its distinctive twin bell towers. Both look upon the Spanish Steps, whose Travertine white marble stairs have been climbed by literally every visitor to the city during the last 300 years. The Spanish Steps open up onto the most famous square in Rome, the beautiful Piazza di Spagna (Spanish Square), and are the setting for a constant parade of people who take pictures, write postcards, sketch, flirt or just watch the endless activity around them.

In front of Piazza di Spagna you have the celebrated Via dei Condotti, and the nearby Via Borgognona and Via Frattina, unmissable stops on the shopping itineraries of the sophisticated traveler. It is all just a few minutes from the Hotel and a colorful neighborhood to stroll around on your way to some of the most noteworthy historical sites in the city.

The Pantheon, St. Peter's Basilica and the Vatican, St. Agnes Church in Piazza Navona and many others are just some of the dazzling sights you can see from the Hassler's terraces and windows.

The nearby oasis of Villa Borghese, a 4-mile-wide park of tree-lined lanes, offers many kinds of sport recreation such as horse-back riding, bicycle riding and skating, as well as being home to the wonderful, art-filled Galleria Borghese and 16th century Villa Medici (currently the French Academy of Art). Taking a walk will lead you through an amphitheatre that puts on theatre productions (an exact copy of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre in London), an aviary, zoo, lake, and various fountains and colorfully-arranged flowerbeds.

Over A Century of Hospitality

Since 1893 the Hassler Roma has been one of the most prestigious hotels in the world

The world's most famous stairway ends almost immediately in front of the Hassler Roma. The Spanish Steps were built in 1723 - 1725, and link Piazza di Spagna at the base with the Church of Trinità dei Monti above. It's easy to fall in love with the rooms overlooking such gorgeous views as the Piazza di Spagna and the familial ambience. This is all due to the long tradition of independent ownership and management of this famous hotel.

Albert Hassler, son of well-established, successful Swiss hoteliers Anton and Matilde Hassler, bought the palazzo in 1893 which led to the family's move from Naples to Rome.

At the end of the 19th century, the city's high society was used to hosting guests in their own homes ("homes" meaning some of the most beautiful palazzi in the world) where social life mostly took place within private walls and gardens.

As the hotel developed, its service, position and aristocratic atmosphere immediately seduced the local society, and within a couple of years became a sought-after destination for businessmen, poets, important diplomats and well-heeled tourists from all over.

In 1921 Oscar Wirth accepted an offer from Mr. Hassler's heirs to take over the hotel's management. After this, the Hassler's success and prestige progressively increased. In 1925 with the awakening of European tourism and the first consistent numbers of American tourists, the Hassler soon became the undisputed leader in the Italian hotel industry. In the 1940s it opened its world-famous Rooftop Restaurant (now called Imàgo), the first panoramic restaurant ever built in Rome.

During the Fascist period, Mussolini decided that the name "Hassler" did not sound Italian enough, and changed it to "Villa Medici." In 1938 the hotel was completely restructured, and just as the work was finishing, it became the Headquarters of the American Command until the end of World War II. In 1947 the Hotel Hassler reopened to travelers from all around the world and took up its traditional position as a temple of hospitality with few equals in terms of both position and service. International classifications, put together every year to highlight the best hotels, invariably place it among the first.

1 Michelin Star

TO DINE IN, UNDER, AND AMONG THE STARS

Imàgo is *image, dream and vision...

In only one word Imàgo encompasses the philosophy of the Hassler Roma's recently renovated restaurant: a place where vision and taste intertwine to offer a unique culinary experience.

A sensorial experience which was used as the guiding benchmark behind the meticulous planning and restructuring work that went into creating the new look for the restaurant and its menu – a celebration of the breathtaking view of the Eternal City.

Every detail has been studied to give the greatest exposure possible to the incomparable view which only this restaurant in Rome offers. As soon as the entrance, our guests encounter the breathtaking sight of the city, each detail reflected and magnified by the mirrored tables, as well as by the small window that looks onto the kitchen's pastry corner, which shows the elegant linearity of the kitchen all the way to the large windows that look out to the Villa Borghese gardens.

The new kitchen's aesthetic lines and inspiring view are naturally reflected and celebrated in the Chef's new dishes. Chef Francesco Apreda, encouraged by the Hassler's President and Managing Director, Roberto E. Wirth, devised and designed the new kitchen himself, choosing the materials, the technical equipment, and the positioning of the cooking stations. He created a truly functional space, efficient in motion and pleasing to the eye. Chef Apreda also chose an innovative method for his kitchen: induction cooking.

Chef Francesco Apreda varies his menu according to the season to always offer his clients different yet refined tastes.

The variety of what he presents is thought for each type of palate...an explosion of flavors that include the most refined combinations as well as traditional Italian cuisine, characterized by the ingredients and fragrances embedded within Italy's rich history and culture.

Imàgo is open 7 days a week, Chef Apreda enjoys nothing more than fulfilling special requests from his loyal clientele.

In the riotous excitement of modern day Rome, imagine a welcoming, cozy and green oasis and it will be the Hassler's Palm Court, bar and restaurant. A calming, luxurious setting that borders on the incredibly beautiful Villa Borghese gardens. Set with charming wrought-iron furniture, the Palm Court offers a wide array of menus all day long: coffee with home-made cornetti, light salad lunches, ice creams, cocktails and snacks in the evening, and always accompanied by delightful piano music.

All through Spring, Summer and Fall, the Palm Court is the ideal spot in which to meet, sip a drink, greet friends, and chat without being disturbed, in the same way one would entertain in an elegant home. It has always been a peaceful oasis, brimming with plants and flowers, and shaded by wide awnings. In the evening, its candlelit corners have always attracted romantic couples.

A SALONE NAMED EVA

The ideal place for a coffee or tea, a business lunch, or an after-theater snack

In the Salone Eva one can breathe the air of wonderful family tradition. A local magnet for natives and guests, the Salone Eva also offers breakfast, lunch and dinner from morning to night. Fine Italian wines are offered by the glass, as are cocktails, and after-theatre snacks. It is open throughout the Fall, Winter and Spring.

THE HASSLER BAR

The Hassler Bar, right behind Salone Eva, is the perfect place for an aperitif or an after-dinner-drink. In a relaxing, luxurious setting accompanied by delightful piano music you can enjoy the atmosphere of an English Club, while being well looked after by the Head Barman.

Princess Diana once confessed to Mr. Wirth that she had enjoyed one of the world's best "Bellinis" here ...although she could not resist to one of the Hassler's famous "Veruschkas," an invigorating mix of pomegranate juice and sparkling Italian wine!

ROME'S GRANDEST MEETING ROOMS

Four pearls of hospitality for glorious weddings, exclusive business conferences, sales presentations, private luncheons and receptions.

The two main public rooms, the Salone Medici and the Sala Capre on the ground floor of the Hassler Roma both face the quiet oasis of the Palm Court and outdoor gardens.

The distinctive gold baroque décor, soft fabrics, draped 19th-century-style curtains and Murano appliqués, all serve to exalt the antique furnishings of the Salone Medici. With direct access to the outdoor garden, this is the ideal location for dinners and presentations for up to 100 people, or cocktail parties for 150 guests.

The two famous frescoes painted by Capezzano in the 1940's are one of Salone Capre's most striking features and portray charmingly romantic and bucolic scenes. This comfortable and cosy oval reading room is ideal for meetings, private lunches or dinners for up to 40 people.

The airy Sala Vietri with its very high ceilings and elegant and relaxing atmosphere is beautifully decorated in tones of dark burgundy wine. This sala easily integrates with the Salone Medici to hold larger receptions and cocktail parties for up to 250 guests.

A popular venue for elegant corporate meetings and presentations for up to 70 guests, the Sala Sistina is outfitted with the very latest audiovisual equipment and lighting system, picture screens, overhead and slide-projectors. Any special request for technical equipment will be fulfilled. A large antique fireplace with its own interesting history is one of the features that gives great ambience to this room.
